MOTION LIST BUSINESS IN COMMON PLEAS COURT

Suit Reinstated on Docket, Default Judgment Being Overruled-Arguments in Horse Case.

There was the regular motion list usiness before the court of common less in New London Monday, Judge Waller presiding.

The arguments were made in the case of Joseph L. Kelley vs. Joseph Kern t al., which was heard here on Saturday, and the judge reserved his de-urday, and the judge reserved his decision.

In the case of F. W. Browning vs. Herbert C. Williamson, a suit regarding some stock of the Uncas Specialty company, the motion for the opening of a default was granted upon the payment of penalty and the case was assigned for trial in Norwich, June 21, at 10.30 o'clock. This suit was originally brought against H. C. Williamson and G. W. Carroll in 1905, when Mr. Carroll appeared and filed a demurrer. No papers were received by Mr. Williamson, who was in New York, and the case was withdrawn last February. Another case was then brought against Mr. Williamson and judgment for $250 by default was given the plaintiff. At the meeting of the executive committee of the grand court. Foresters of America, held in Waterbury Sunday, Grand Chief Ranger Charles W. Bagley announced the following appointments: To the grand court board of appeals, John J. McDonaid of Waterbury; grand court auditors, James P. Haggery of Months against Mr. Williamson and judgment of the case of Charles Stamm vs. the plaintiff. Mr. Williamson was then at Worpester and turned the case over to Attorney Nicholson of East Cornwall, but Attorney J. J. Desmond was later retained, and his motion to have the plaint. The second case on the list for today is that of Benoit vs. Tank & McKinnen Construction company, in which, it was stated Friday, there is a possibility of time, the motions being quickly dis-posed of.

Madam Huntington's Affability. Hon. Samuel Huntington was not a native of Norwich, but came here early. He married a daughter of the hative of Norwich, but came here early. He married a daughter of the Rev. Ebenezer Devotion of Windham. She was not styllsh, but thrifty, neighborly, wise, and large-hearted. Miss Caulkins says: "It was long remembered that in a white short gown, stuff petticoat, clean muslin apron, and nicely starched cap, she would take her knitting, and go out by 2 o'clock in the afternoon to take tea unceremoniously with some respectable reighbor, perhaps the butcher's or the blacksmith's wife."

Governor and Mrs. Huntington had no children; but at times nephews and nieces were with them, and these attracted the young people to the home. Social -mes in the parlor were often followed by dancing on the oak floor in the kitchen. But when the curfew rang at 9 o'clock, it "sent all visitors quietly to their homes and their brods."

Governor Huntington was born in Windham, July 3, 1731. His father, Nathaniel Huntington, gave a liberal education to three of his sons, who became ministers; but he thought Samuel would be a mechanic, so apprenticed him to a cooper. Thus Samuel never went to college. He studied by himself, was always learning, borrowed law books, and became a lawyer. He was of fine presence, an eye "vivid and penetrating." He was eminently religious, ready in the conference meeting or public assembly when called upon to read Scriptures or offer prayer. He counseled and comforted those near death.

A Signer of the Declaration. Samuel Huntington was an active citizen of Norwich. He was king's attorney, president of the Continental congress, governor of Connecticut from 1786 until his death in 1796. He was one of the signers of the Declarawe make the claim to be the best dry cleaners in town—and dry Cleaning is now the correct way to cleaner garments without doing them the slightest injury. We are patronized by the most particular people, who have found to their satisfaction that our work is all we claim it to be, and that we are prompt and thorough in executing orders, and very reasonable in our prices. Hence our popularity.

"In Plain Black and White"
